

TESTING WATER MAINS

Portable Set

An automatic pumping set for the testing of water mains is made by Williams and James, Chequers Bridge, Gloucester. The apparatus is known as the "Hydraulux" mains-testing plant. The extension of built-up areas with the attendant additional water mains often necessitates increased pressure in such mains whilst new lengths are subject to damage from ground settlement, &c. The main-testing plant has been developed to meet the growing practice of testing the mains on the site. The set is mounted on a hand-barrow so as to be readily portable. The pump is of the twin-cylinder horizontal type with phosphor-bronze plungers working in gunmetal guides and glands. The plungers are driven by geared eccentrics running in an oil bath from which all working parts are lubricated. The shaft on which the eccentrics are mounted is driven by chain from a 1½ h.p. Villiers air-cooled petrol engine with a self-contained fly-wheel magneto. The pump is fitted with a receiver provided with a relief valve and pressure gauge and carrying the engine fuel tank. The pump discharge is connected to the main at its lowest point. The suction pipe draws from a temporary tank, it being understood that the main is already full of water and the function of the testing set is only to supply the pressure and to make up for any leakage. On starting the engine, the pressure in the main rises rapidly and is maintained automatically, by means of a loaded bypass valve, at the predetermined test pressure for such period as may be necessary for making a thorough inspection. The set is capable of testing mains at any pressure up to 300 lb. per square inch.

THE LINDER STRESS FINDER

The Linder stress finder, which provides a simple, convenient and rapid means of checking the load capacity of derricks, consists of two arms, one of which is graduated, pivoted to a disc on which a circular scale is engraved. In use, the instrument is held at such a distance from the eye that the mast-head span block is sighted through a hole in the centre of the disc while the pointed end of the ungraduated arm coincides with the derrick heel. The graduated arm is then turned so that it lies parallel with the rope between the mast-head span block and the derrick-head span connection. The loads on these can then be determined from the readings of the circular and linear scales, respectively. The results are correct with a single purchase, but for a multiple purchase, a simple correction must be applied. The instrument should be very useful to ships' officers and those who have to assign safe working loads to derricks. It can be used with a drawing when sighting is not possible.

FIREBAR FOR SMALL BOILERS

A firebar, suitable for small vertical boilers, locomotive boilers and sectional heating boilers, which, it is claimed, will enable a thermal efficiency of 80 per cent. to be obtained with solid fuel, by a more effective distribution of air to the fuel, is made by the Turbine Furnace Company Limited, London. The bars are cast in groups having three air spaces, resemble a longitudinal section of a Venturi tube. The individual bars of a group are connected at short intervals by webs of triangular cross-section. These webs do not extend to either the top or bottom of the bar and are staggered relatively to one another in successive air spaces, that is, there are no lines of dead space across the grate. The grate is used with fan or steam-jet draught fitted with automatic control, so that when a predetermined pressure or temperature is reached the air supply is automatically cut off, to be re-established on the converse conditions obtaining. This arrangement permits of firing at irregular intervals a constant steady pressure or temperature can still be maintained. The new bar keeps the fuel from entering the air spaces and so ensures free passage of the air, whilst, owing to the humidity provided in the air supply, clinker does not adhere to the bars. The equipment is known as the "Turven" system.

NEW MOULDING MACHINE

Easy Operation

The "Hartung" moulding machine is operated by compressed air at a pressure of from 80 lb. to 90 lb. per square inch and first jolts the moulding box, then squeezes the sand and, on the downward stroke of the table, draws the pattern from the box. It will accommodate boxes up to 16 in. by 20 in. or 20 in. in diameter, and up to 8 in. deep. The squeezing cylinder is 1½ in. in diameter with a stroke of 6½ in. and the jolt cylinder is 4½ in. in diameter. The machine can be operated by one man and the procedure is as follows: The sand is placed in the moulding box, and the table is jolted. The head is then swung into position and squeezing is started, the vibrator being automatically started at the same time by the movement of the head.

The pedal is next depressed to raise the pattern-drawing frame, the action being effected pneumatically. On air being released from the squeezing cylinder, the table descends, the moulding box coming into contact with the stripping pins and then stopping. The pattern plate continues to descend and the pattern is withdrawn from the mould. On swinging the head out of the way, the vibrator automatically stops. On the removal of the finished mould the pedal is again depressed, which action restores the machine to the starting condition. The jolting, squeezing and drawing motions are controlled by a single rotary valve. Adequate protection of the working parts against sand and dirt is provided. The stripping pins are adjustable on the frame and may be quickly set for boxes of different sizes. The stripping frame is rigidly held against permanent stops whilst the pattern is being drawn and defective draws are thus prevented. The machine is lubricated by oil introduced by an injector application of compressed air. The machine is made on the interchangeable system.

STATE GRANT

For Highland Road

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 10.

The Ministry of Transport announce that Mr. More-Bellish, Minister of Transport, has agreed to make a grant from the Road Fund towards the cost of a scheme submitted by Dumbarton County Council for providing a second carriageway on part of the Glasgow-Dumbarton-Inverness road. Separate carriageways for traffic going in opposite directions are already provided on the greater part of the new western exit from Glasgow known as the Boulevard, and it is now proposed to extend this dual carriageway system from the end of the Boulevard at Dumbuck to the railway bridge at Dumbuck.

The cost is estimated at £33,200, and the work, which will be started shortly, is expected to occupy about 15 months. Some idea of the extent of the work may be formed from the fact that it involves the excavation of 22,000 cubic yards and the filling in of 51,000 cubic yards.

This length of road carries a heavy volume of bus, tram, and tourist traffic. It is a bottlenecked section, having an over-all width of 32 feet and a single carriageway with an average width of 20 feet.

The old carriageway will be widened to 24 feet, and the new one will be constructed to similar dimensions. They will be separated by a grass verge, and a new footpath 10 feet wide will be provided alongside the new carriageway. The average width of the road between fences will be 70 feet.

TYNESIDE DEVELOPMENTS

In October, work will begin on South Shields Corporation's riverside development scheme, states the Tyneside Industrial Development Board. There will be two years' work clearing slum sites, constructing new quay, and providing rail and road communications. The site has a 2,500-ft. river frontage and will be available for new industries. It is also announced by the Tyneside Industrial Development Board that

ENGINEERING AND BUILDING

SUBSIDISED SHIPPING COMPETITION

Hon. Alexander Shaw Speaks

It is generally known that the British mercantile fleet has lost ground in recent years as compared with those of some other powers. The extent of the loss is, however, perhaps not always realised. Speaking at a dinner held on board the new P. and O. liner Strathmore, at Liverpool, on the 13th inst., the Hon. Alexander Shaw, the Chairman of the P. and O. Company, stated that whereas before the war Great Britain owned about 40 per cent. of the world's tonnage, she now possessed less than 27 per cent., and that her tonnage had sunk actually as well as relatively. This fall is, in the main, to be explained by the competition of foreign shipping working on a subsidised basis, or under conditions biased in its favour by governmental restrictions, and which, if it were obliged to maintain a straight-forward trading competition with British ships, would certainly disappear from the seas. Mr. Shaw particularly referred to the position in the Pacific and mentioned the service between New Zealand, Australia, and San Francisco, and that between Canada across the Pacific to Australia and New Zealand. He stated that the British ships on the former of these two runs would be withdrawn within the next few months if present conditions continued, while on the latter, heavy losses were being incurred and that a new building programme was rendered impossible.

SITUATION

The unsatisfactory situation on the Australia-New Zealand run is more especially due to the operations of the United States subsidised Matson Line and by a coincidence a message from Canberra was published in "The Times" on the same day that Mr. Shaw spoke, stating that the Australian and New Zealand Governments were arranging a conference with representatives of the Matson Line to be held in London, to discuss the question. In a later interview,

Mr. Shaw said that he could see no prospect of the Matson Line participating in a conference with a view to foregoing their subsidised competition. They had been more than once approached on the subject with negative results, and they were quite entitled to take advantage of the favourable conditions which had been created for them. Later messages have confirmed that the projected conference is to be proceeded with and it may be hoped that it will have some result, but it seems likely that something more than goodwill on the part of the Matson Line will be necessary to place British shipping in the position which is properly its own.

RAY OF HOPE

A ray of hope, although perhaps not a very bright one, may be found in the signs of uneasiness in more than one foreign country with a policy of loading the debit side of an unbalanced budget with heavy shipping subsidies. The situation could also clearly be met by instituting British subsidies. Although these are contrary to our policy and traditions, we could afford them better than most people who are now indulging in them, and they might do much to reduce unemployment in the ship-building industry. As a matter of practice, however, it is not likely that any British subsidy would approach in extent what is common elsewhere. Finally, we have a strong and, in fact, invincible weapon in the geographical constitution of the British Empire, if we as an Empire care to use it. It is regrettable to have to talk about weapons in commercial competition with a friendly nation, but when the coastal trade of one of our rivals on the sea is held to cover ports more than 2,000 miles away from its coasts, it is necessary to consider, at least the bargaining power, of a definition of coastal trade which would include the whole of the British Empire.

THE GOVERNMENT LABORATORY

A most valuable institution and one that has been of considerable service to the country is the Government Laboratory, and the report by the Government Chemist on the work of the Laboratory for the year ended the 31st of March was recently issued. The total number of samples examined in the course of the year was 522,788, an increase of 19,196 over the number for the previous year, the largest increase being in samples of tobacco, of which 97,255 were examined.

The examination of samples of sea-water was another branch of the work of the laboratory, whose aid was sought in connection with a scheme of oceanic research. This scheme included the determination of the different degrees of salinity in the North Sea and in the Atlantic Ocean, and the efforts of the laboratory in this connection gave most interesting results. The Laboratory was also of considerable help to the police authorities during the year. Altogether eighty-two samples were submitted for its inspection in connection with inquiries in the Police Courts. The total number of samples received from the Post Office was 2,979, and systematic examinations were conducted for the purpose of determining the quality of and any deleterious substances in the paper, pigments, and gum used in the manufacture of stamps, post cards and embossed envelopes. The Board of Inland Revenue and the British Museum were also contributors of samples in connection with the suspected fraudulent use of stamps and the forgery of documents.

Messrs. North-Eastern Piers, Ltd., a newly registered company, will shortly apply to Parliament for powers to construct a pleasure pier at Whitley Bay, the popular North-East Coast resort, costing upwards of £200,000.

RECENT CONTRACTS

Messrs. Kennelott Water Softening Company, Limited, Wolverhampton, have now in hand the construction of a water softening plant for the town supply of Walsley Corporation. The capacity of the installation is approximately 500,000 gallons a day and it is to be completed in about two months' time.

Messrs. The Trussed Concrete Steel Company, Limited, Thames House, Millbank, London, S.W.1., are acting as the reinforced-concrete engineers in connection with the construction of schools, shops and flats, and other buildings in various parts of Great Britain. In the case of a number of other buildings they are supplying their Truscon and Truscon precast floors.

Messrs. Marconi's Wireless Telegraph Company, Limited, Electra House, Victoria-embankment, London, W.C.2, and Messrs. Standard Telephones and Cables, Limited, Connaught House, Aldwych, London, W.C.2, have each received an order from The British Broadcasting Corporation, Broadcasting House, Portland-place, London, W.1, for an additional short-wave broadcasting transmitter for the B.B.C. Empire broadcasting service. The construction of a new building at Daventry to house the transmitters, together with a greatly extended aerial system, is to be put in hand shortly.

Messrs. The Economical Boiler Washing Company, Limited, 3, Central-buildings, Westminster, have received an order from the London and North Eastern Railway for a hot-water boiler-washing plant for the Hornsey locomotive depot.

Messrs. The General Electric Company, Limited, Magnet House, Kingsway, W.C.2, in addition to having been entrusted with the contract for lighting important portions of the first-class accommodation on the Queen Mary, have now received orders to equip the public-rooms of the tourist accommodation as well as the third-class parts of the vessel.

QUARRIES AND MINES

Health And Safety Of Workers

The annual reports for 1933 of H.M. Inspectors under the Quarries Act, 1894 and the Metalliferous Mines Regulation Acts, 1872 and 1875, have rather belatedly been issued by the Stationery Office. The primary subject of these reports is the health and safety of the workers engaged in these industries, but some useful statistical information is also given.

The first of the Acts just quoted relates to quarries more than 20 ft. deep, the output from which during 1933 was a record of 67,500,000 tons. This is 7,000,000 tons more than in 1932, and is ascribed to the improvement in the iron and steel and building and allied trades. It was 21,000,000 tons more than in 1913. The number of quarries working, on the other hand, was 5,100 in 1933, as against 5,164 the year before. Reports from the Northern and Yorkshire Divisions refer to the increasing use of mechanical appliances and to a preference for electrical and oil-driven over steam plant. Actually the horsepower of electric motors in use increased from 97,000 h.p. in 1930 to 122,000 h.p. in 1933, and was probably two or threefold what it was in 1924.

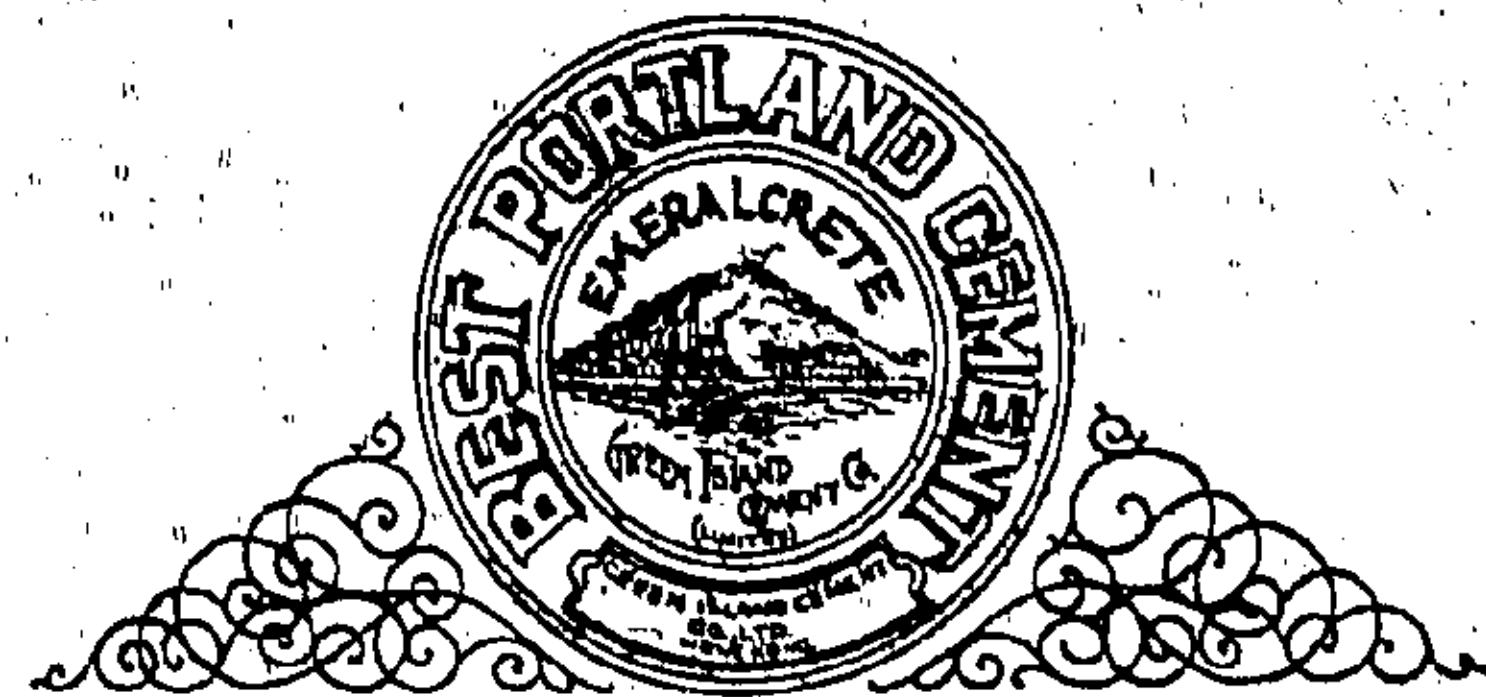

METALLIFEROUS MINES

As regards metalliferous mines, the tonnage raised in 1933 was generally greater than in 1932. The most marked increases were from 612,651 tons to 738,656 tons in the case of iron ore, from 40,832 tons to 49,056 tons in the case of lead ore, and from 1,699 tons to 1,45 tons in the case of tin ore. The output of limestone increased from 199,315 tons to 218,591 tons, and of silica from 11,588 tons to 15,028 tons. The number of persons killed during the year was 11, while 31 suffered "serious personal injury," these figures being slightly lower than in 1932. The death rate below ground was two per 1,000 persons employed, which is higher than that 1.21 for mines under the Coal Mines Act, even though workers at metalliferous mines were more or less immune from some of the risks of coal mining. Thus over the period 1923-32 the annual death rate from accidents below ground at metalliferous mines was 1.72 per 1,000 persons employed, while at coal mines it was 1.2. Two of the fatalities were due to an explosion of fire-damp in a lead mine, while two others were caused by falls of ground. The remainder were due to shot firing.

NEW TESTING MACHINE

The usefulness of the portable testing machine, known as the Hounsfield Tensometer has been somewhat restricted owing to the comparatively small test pieces that can be handled.

Messrs. Tensometer, Limited, 73, Southampton-row, London, W.C.1, have now developed a new form of the apparatus, which, in its three sizes, can deal with test pieces up to 10 in., 16 in., and 22 in. long, respectively, these figures giving the distance between the chuck attachments. The new apparatus can, therefore, be used for testing such materials as wire, lead, fabrics and so forth, as well as for determining the tensile strength on pieces of the same proportions as the B.S.I. standard test pieces. The apparatus is known as the "worm gear type," as distinct from the "lever type" of the smaller machine, and is suitable, by means of special attachments, for carrying out Brinell hardness tests, notched-bar tests, cast-iron bend tests, strip and plate tests, uniform bending moment bent-test, compressor tests and punch-shear tests. An autographic recorder giving large diagrams is embodied. The new machine is easily operated and autographic results can be obtained in a very short time by a comparatively unskilled operator, who has a clear view of the diagram as it is plotted. It can be supplied of varying capacities, so as to provide ultimate stress figures from 200 tons per square inch down to a few hundred pounds per square inch.

PREPARING FOR ELECTION

Government And Labour Plans

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 15

There was considerable activity at the headquarters of all the political parties yesterday, for it is now taken for granted that the next General Election will be fought before the end of November.

There are in the present House of Commons 470 Conservatives, 35 Liberal Nationals, and 13 National Labour supporters of the Government. Fifty-one of these members have announced that they do not intend to seek re-election, and 41 candidates have already been selected to succeed retiring Conservative members. Seven Conservative members will contest constituencies other than those which they now represent. Of the 41 candidates chosen in place of retiring Conservative members three are Liberal Nationals and one is a National Labour candidate. Arrangements have already been made to fight 43 seats now held by Labour members or by members of the Liberal section of the Opposition, and four of these seats will be fought by National Labour party have endorsed 452 candidates apart from the 58 constituencies they at present hold, so that already both the Conservative and the Labour Parties have more than 500 prospective candidates in the field. It is unlikely that the Opposition Liberals will be able to put forward more than 200. Mr. Lloyd George's plans are nebulous.

Since the General Election in 1931 there have been 62 by-elections, and 10 seats have been won from supporters of the Government by the Labour Party. There are two vacancies at present—in the Farnworth Division of Lancashire and in North Hammersmith. It is unlikely that any steps will be taken to fill the vacancies before the General Election.

The views of the Liberal section of the Opposition on the proposed General Election are set out in the following statement, which was issued last night from the Liberal Association:—

At Liberal headquarters it is recognized that an early meeting of the House of Commons is desirable, and, indeed, necessary, as legislation would be required for the enforcement of almost any form of sanctions. With regard, however, to an immediate General Election, it is thought that such a step would be regarded in the country among great numbers of the electorate as nothing more than an attempt to exploit the international crisis. It would be using the unity now prevailing in the nation in support of the present foreign policy of the Government, in order to secure power for the Conservative Party for the next five years.

There is no reason to think that the House of Commons will not concur in the measures which will of the present foreign policy of the Government to deal with the international situation; and that being so, there is no justification for Parliament being dissolved a year before the normal time. In addition, the important and urgent question of the regulations under the Unemployment Assistance Act has not yet been dealt with, and, if an election takes place while this matter is still pending, it must become a foremost issue at the election in all the industrial constituencies, cutting across all questions relating to foreign policy or national defence. The last time that a national emergency was exploited for party advantage was at the General Election of 1900, when the course taken was successful for the moment. It soon became plain, however, that the country did not approve of the tactics that had been adopted. From the morrow of the election the Conservative Party lost ground in the constituencies, and at the subsequent General Election met with the heaviest defeat in its modern history. Mr. Baldwin being fully aware of all these circumstances, it is considered doubtful whether he would plunge the country into an immediate election at the height of the crisis.

Christian Science Lesson Sermon

SUBJECT: EVERLASTING PUNISHMENT

This will be the Lesson Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, to-morrow, November 3, 1935.

The Golden Text will be: "Create in me a clean heart, O God: and renew a right spirit within me." (Psalms 51:10).

Among others, the following citations from the Bible will be read: "And it came to pass, as Jesus sat at meat in the house, behold, many publicans and sinners came and sat down with him and his disciples. And when the Pharisees saw it, they said unto his disciples, Why eateth your master with publicans and sinners? But when Jesus heard that, he said unto them, They that be whole need not a physician, but they are sick. But go ye and learn what that meaneth, I will have mercy, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance. (Matthew 9:10-13).

The Lesson Sermon will also include the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

Christian Science commands man to master the propensities,—to hold hatred in abeyance with kindness, to conquer lust with chastity, revenge with charity, and to overcome deceit with honesty. Choke these errors in their early stages, if you would not cherish an army of conspirators against health, happiness and success. The abiding consciousness of wrong doing tends to destroy the ability to do right. The pains of sinful sense are less harmful than its pleasures (Page 405).

CARDINAL RICHELIEU TALKED FOR TWO DAYS

At once a magnificent spectacle and superb entertainment, "Cardinal Richelieu," to the King's Theatre to-day, surpasses even "The House of Rothschild," the earlier triumph of producer Darryl Zanuck and his star, George Arliss.

Based on the famous play by Sir Edward Bulwer-Lytton, Cameron Rogers and Maude Howell's screen play shows us the human side of the prelate who stood behind the throne of France.

The story opens with the feudal lords plotting against Richelieu because he has persuaded the weak ruler, Louis XIII., to issue a decree confiscating their lands.

The direction of Rowland V. Lee, who last year triumphed with "The Count of Monte Cristo," is powerful and spirited throughout.

Maureen O'Sullivan is charming as Lenore and Cesar Romero scores as Andre. Edward Arnold gives his best performance as the weak King, Francis I. and Douglas Dumbrille are both excellent as the ambitious Prince Gaston and the sly Baradas.

Screen Stars Over Enthusiastic

Mary Astor and Lyle Talbot talked in whispers for two days as a result of over-enthusiasm. Working together in the first National picture "Red Hot Tires," coming soon to the Queen's Theatre.

One of the sequences reveals the pair as excited spectators of a mad dog automobile race. They were supposed to be moved to a high pitch of excitement in watching the thrilling sport. It hadn't been planned, however, that the two would cheer so loud and long that hoarseness would result, but that's what actually happened.

Both are racing enthusiasts and when they watched the daredevil race track stunts, they completely forgot themselves and cheered louder and longer than was necessary for picture purposes. "Red Hot Tires" is a dynamic drama with speed thrills that will take the breath: There is a stirring and unusual romance in which two daredevil drivers battle both for racing honours and the love of a beautiful girl.

In the cast besides Talbot and Miss Astor are Roscoe Karns, Frankie Darro, Gavin Gordon, Mary Treen and Henry Kolker.

"BECKY SHARP"

Gala Premiere At The Queen's

Inaugurating what many believe to be a new era in screen entertainment, Pioneer Pictures' first full-colour feature, "Becky Sharp," opened last night at a gala premiere to a crowded house at the Queen's Theatre.

Based upon William Makepeace Thackeray's famous fiction classic, "Vanity Fair" and the Langdon Mitchell stage play "Becky Sharp," it stars Mariam Hopkins. Produced entirely in the new three-component Technicolor, it promises a revelation in beauty, fidelity to life, and clarity. It is the first time full length dramatic motion picture in this process and may, as many predict, revolutionize the entire future course of the film industry because colour perfection is now available.

Coming as a Rouben Mamoulian production, "Becky Sharp" offers the finest of Miss Hopkins' artistry. As fiction's immortal coquette, the blonde and lovely Miss Hopkins has a role demanding both sparkling humour and tense emotion. She is brilliantly supported by Frances Dee, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Billie Burke, Alison Skipworth, Nigel Bruce, Alan Mowbray, G. P. Huntley, Jr., Colin Tapley, William Faversham, and other notable players.

HERE COMES THE NAVY

A picture as fresh and invigorating as an ocean breeze and with the tang of the salt sea spray, showing at the Oriental Theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday with James Cagney and Pat O'Brien in the leading role.

Warner Brothers in this refreshing production have developed a most unusual plot in the picture-sque background of the U.S. Navy, a plot involving the thrilling life and romantic love affairs of Willie Jack-Tars, afloat, ashore and in the air.

The picture is characterized by clean, rollicking fun, rapid fire action, breath-taking thrills, plus glamorous romance. It was filmed for the most part aboard the giant battleship, the U.S.S. Arizona, with the entire Pacific fleet in the background.

POST OFFICE CENSUS

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 10. The Post Office will begin tomorrow the biggest letters and parcels census ever held. All the letters, postcards, newspapers, and parcels dealt with in Great Britain and Northern Ireland during the fortnight that ends on October 28 will be counted by special staffs.

They will be assisted by 1,000 mechanical counting instruments which automatically check postage stamp transactions, street calls made by postmen (they press a lever on an instrument to record each call), post-office counter transactions, telegrams received over the telephone, and so on. In a year the Post Office deals with something like 7,000,000,000 items, so the magnitude of even a fortnight's census can be imagined.

An official of the department explained yesterday that one week was to be devoted to posted and one to delivered traffic. The process would involve the enumeration of the traffic in over 20,000 offices great and small. The size of the task, he added, would be appreciated when it was realized that the number of delivered items counted in London in last year's count was over 39,000,000 and in the provinces nearly 107,000,000. The numbers handled at the big provincial centres were considerable. For example, last year's figures of delivered correspondence during the week at Manchester were 5,900,000 and at Birmingham only some thousand fewer.

Mechanical devices for counting had been introduced in considerable numbers in recent years and were now in regular use at all the larger offices. The process of stamp cancellation and counting was combined in the machines.

Zanuck Revived Period Pictures

"Richelieu," His Supreme Achievement, Proves His Faith

The hectic scramble of Hollywood film producers for new sources of story material has caused Darryl Zanuck, producer of 20th Century pictures, not the slightest concern.

Frantic bidding for "fairy tales," the classics and what-not, interests him only casually. He takes no active part in it. Zanuck, instead, has set about re-discovering one of the most fruitful sources of dramatic material adaptable to the screen. This source, years ago, gave rise to what is loosely termed the "period picture," so-called because it dealt with another period than the present.

For reasons peculiar to the industry "period pictures" suffered a black eye in producing circles. They were expensive, and involved extensive research. Nobody wanted to make them. They were taboo. To clinch matters somebody passed the buck to dear old public.

"HOUSE OF ROTHSCHILD" PROVED POINT

Thus it got around that the public didn't like "period pictures." Zanuck didn't believe it. To prove his point he made "The House of Rothschild." It was a tremendous success financially as well as a ranking achievement in the city of film miracles.

By a few additional forceful examples Zanuck definitely established that the greatly frowned-upon "period picture" had been wrongfully maligned.

"Pictures," says Mr. Zanuck,

"do not depend on dates for their success. It is utterly ridiculous to say that a story laid in the sixteenth century, for example, will have no audience appeal today. You can't classify drama by decades.

The essentials of drama are unchanging. A story may be said to be cut-mod, or a plot worn threadbare. But take the same story and dress it in different clothes, so to speak, vary its setting, and to all appearance it is something new, once ever thought of before.

It is true, of course, that certain periods in history are more dramatic, more heroic, or more romantic than others. Or at least yield readily to dramatization in such vein.

Zanuck has been reaching into the past for material for a significant portion of his recent production. "The Mighty Barnum" goes back a hundred years; "The Affairs of Cellini" turned back the centuries; the dramatic "Clive of India" touches 1750; the immortal "Les Miserables" opens in 1800. And now, as conclusive evidence of his faith in the period picture, Zanuck has chosen "Cardinal Richelieu" for his latest and most pretentious undertaking. The distinguished George Arliss portrays the intriguing prelate who became a power behind the throne of France during the reign of Louis XIII in this Joseph M. Schenck presentation, released through United Artists, and currently holding forth on the screen of the King's Theatre to-day.

George Arliss, Maureen O'Sullivan and Edward Arnold in "Cardinal Richelieu," a 20th Century Picture, released through United Artists

By that means a continuous record of numbers was maintained in respect of a considerable proportion of posted matter—except for items which by reason of size or shape could not conveniently be put through the machine.

Counts yielded figures, said the official, which were of considerable statistical value from a control point of view. As an obvious example they gave a statistical basis upon which necessary staff adjustments could be made. In spite of all that additional activity the public would get its letters as usual. Parcels delivered during one typical week last year numbered 2,335,000.

"BREWSTER'S MILLIONS"

It is doubtful whether any British picture has ever mustered in its production such an array of top-line names in all departments as "Brewster's Millions," the latest Jack Buchanan picture, which is to have a special presentation at the King's Theatre on Wednesday.

The subject starts by being a young man forced to spend half a million pounds in six months in order to inherit millions, a classic of "comedy entertainment" already familiar on both sides of the Atlantic.

The theme has been preserved in the picture, but the combined efforts of Arthur Wimperis, Clifford Grey, Donovan Pedley, Jack Buchanan and Douglas Furber have built round it an entirely new framework of incident and development, gay, modern and made-to-measure for the personality of the star. Arthur Wimperis is one of the cleverest writers of dialogue in the world. "Henry VII" was an example of his work and Clifford Grey is an eminent scenarist, who numbers "Rome Express" among his successes. Douglas Furber has been associated with Jack Buchanan in all his British films and stage shows.

Direction is by Thornton Freeland, who made "Woopee," "Flying Down to Rio" and other American hits. He is a specialist in light-hearted subjects, with a flair for the treatment of music and dancing. His "Caricosa" sequence in "Flying Down to Rio" between Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers will long be remembered. Camera work is by Varney McGill, who has three times been nominated for the Motion Picture Academy award during his long Hollywood career, which includes work on such productions as "Svengali," "Captured," "The Bowery," and "Broadway Thru a Keyhole."

The film editor is Merrill White, who edited all Lubitsch's films, before coming to England fifteen months ago as chief of British and Dominion's cutting department.

Four special musical numbers have been written for "Brewster's Millions" by Ray Noble, whose

WITH THE INFANT PRINCE

(Special Air Mail Service)
London, Oct. 10. The Duke of Kent spent a long time yesterday morning with his wife and son, who were again reported in a bulletin to be making very satisfactory progress.

It is understood that the Duke has given the Duchess a present of jewellery to mark the birth of their son.

No decision about the names for the new Prince is expected during the next few days, and the royal birth will not be registered, until after the names have been chosen.

Yesterday's bulletin was the first in which the royal mother and baby were referred to as "the Duchess of Kent and her son." Earlier bulletins had referred to the baby as "the Infant Prince."

"Good Night, Sweetheart," "By The Fireside" and "Love is the Sweetest Thing" have been the rage of three continents, and have made him a best-seller with an international reputation. His number "Pull Down the Blind," sung in the film by Lili Damita, has all those features which have made his other of his numbers is written in Rhumba rhythm for the "Caranga" dance sequence.

The orchestration of the musical score is by Harry Perrett and Billy Mayerl plays the piano for Lili Damita's numbers.

Unusual attention has been given to the dressing of "Brewster's Millions." Lili Damita has been gown by Schiaparelli, and Nancy O'Neil wears dresses by Norman Hartnell. Dresses have also been specially designed for the twenty beautiful girls who have been placed under contract by B. and D. after testing five hundred of the fifteen hundred applicants for the roles. These girls are "featured" in the film; they will not be seen in the mass formations which have become such conventional screen material but will be given close ups and lines throughout the picture and as part of the development of the story.

Song numbers and dance ensembles, when introduced, have been given into the pattern of the story. The songs, for example, emerge from a show which Brewster backs, while the "Caranga" will be danced as part of a huge festival which provides the plot of the film with some of its most wildly funny moments.

The dance sequences have been worked out by Jack Buchanan, Thornton Freeland and Buddy Bradley, the latter of whom has become in recent years the most famous dance director in England.

WOMAN KIDNAPPER SENTENCED

For kidnapping a seven years old boy, named Wong Yu Wing, a Chinese woman, Cho Sze, was sentenced by Mr. E. I. Wynne-Jones, at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, to serve 12 months' imprisonment.

It was stated that the boy in question together with another woman were in the habit of going to the Chiu Wah Knitting Factory in Lai Chi Kok Road, for food which was handed out to them regularly everyday, but on October 19 the woman saw defendant with the boy going in the direction of Nathan Road.

At the time she did not attach any importance to this, but later when she saw that the boy had not returned for his pail, in which the food was customarily deposited, she became alarmed and at once lost no time in notifying his parents, living at No. 317 Lai Chi Kok Road.

After a consultation, the Police at Mongkok Station were notified, and a description of the defendant was circulated. Shortly after midnight that day, just by chance the parents of the missing boy came across the defendant who was with their son at the time, at the junction of Chiung Lok Street and Argyle Street.

An altercation took place between the two parents with the result that a District Watchman was attracted to the scene. As he was approaching, defendant attempted to run away but was caught after a chase.

At the station the parents pointed out to the Police that their son was then wearing a different suit of clothing from that which he wore when he left the house in the morning.

It was subsequently discovered by the Police that the defendant had the day before hired a room at No. 417 Reclamation Street, and when she brought the boy there, she explained to the tenants that he had arrived from the country. At the station however she admitted changing his clothes.

UNDESIRABLES RETURN

A returned banished, named Tsang Kau (26) was committed to stand his trial at the next Sessions, by the Kowloon Magistrate, Mr. W. M. Thomson yesterday, when Tsang appeared before him on a charge of returning to the Colony before the expiration of his deportation order.

It was stated by Detective Sgt. T. G. Mackay, of the Finger Prints Department, Police Headquarters, that defendant was banished for a period of 10 years on November 16, last year. He was arrested on information received. Defendant's records showed that 11 years ago he was convicted for larceny, followed by two convictions of the same offence in 1929. He was deported in 1930 and again in 1932, and 1934.

DEATH ENQUIRY

An inquiry was held by Mr. Macfadyen at the Central Magistracy yesterday, into the circumstances surrounding the death of a married Chinese woman, Cheng Pat Har, No. 106 Electric Road, first floor who was killed by a flying rock during blasting operations on a cliff opposite her house.

Evidence was heard from various witnesses and the enquiry was adjourned.

Before Mr. Macfadyen in the Central Magistracy yesterday, Fung Shing (51) unemployed was charged with damaging two growing trees on the hillside above Kennedy Road near the Police Revolver Range. Defendant pleaded guilty and was fined $25 or, in default, one month's hard labour. Inspector A. W. Smith said an Indian constable was on duty in Kennedy Road when he heard the noise of breaking wood. He saw two men cutting trees and he gave chase and arrested the defendant. The latter refused to carry the tree and a detective had to be sent from Central to assist. Mr. G. B. Twenlow, of the Botanical and Forestry Department, said the trees were each valued at $20 and they had recently been losing a number of trees in the vicinity.

At the Central Magistracy yesterday, Mr. W. Schofield sentenced Wong Kam Tai, unemployed to twelve months' imprisonment for having returned from banishment. It was stated by the prosecution that defendant was banished for two years in June this year, but was arrested whilst he was out shopping in Johnston Road.

EXTRADITION REFUSED

Extradition proceedings sought by the Canton authorities in connection with an alleged robbery at the Ko Sha Village, Shu Lam, Chung Sang district, against Chiu Shiu Ting, alias Tsui Kau, alias Chap Shu Fan, failed at the Central Magistracy yesterday, when Mr. W. Schofield discharged the fugitive.

The robbery in question was stated to have taken place in May last, the fugitive being alleged to have robbed Lu Shyer Leung of $1,055 in money. At the time of the robbery the former was alleged to have been accompanied by ten men, all of whom were armed.

The complainant in the case had since died, and his son, Liu Wai-lam, was the principal witness for the Crown, with two other folk.

Mr. J. A. Fraser, Assistant Attorney General, conducted the case for the Crown, and Mr. G. S. Hugh-Jones, of Messrs. Wilkinson and Grist, appeared for the fugitive.

In the course of his decision, the Magistrate said the fugitive's story was to be preferred to that of the Crown. It was not merely that one story was more credible than the other, but the story of the Crown witnesses had been seriously discredited in important particulars.

TRAFFIC OFFENDERS FINED

For leaving his car unattended at Salisbury Road near the car park on October 9, at 4.50 p.m., Mr. F. L. Brown, of No. 16 Nullah Road, was fined $5 by the Kowloon Magistrate, Mr. E. I. Wynne-Jones, yesterday. The prosecuting officer, Traffic-Inspector A. Nicol explained that Mr. Brown was a member of the Hong Kong Automobile Association, and as such should have known that it was not permissible to park his car without an attendant. A car was only permitted to remain for twenty minutes, provided there was a driver in attendance.

Admitting a summons for causing an obstruction at Saigon Street near the Majestic Theatre by leaving his car No. 4362 there, on October 9 at 11.20 p.m., W. Jackisch, of the Green Island Cement Company, was fined $5.

Sentences of 6 months and 9 months imprisonment respectively were meted out by the Kowloon Magistrate Mr. E. I. Wynne-Jones yesterday when Kan Man (24) unemployed and Tse Tsin (23) also unemployed appeared at the Kowloon Magistracy charged with the violation of their deportation orders.

In the case of Kan, it was explained that he was deported for a period of five years on November 2, 1934, while Tse was banished for ten years on April 18, 1933. Both pleaded that they had returned to look for their respective relatives.

Another case for committal, concerning Pun Shiu Chau (25) alias Pun Shu Lun, a returned banished, deported on March 26 this year for 10 years, was remanded for 24 hours in order for the prosecution to call a further witness.

CHINESE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

Delegation Of Doctors For Canton Conference

A large delegation of almost one hundred doctors of medicine arrived here yesterday by the s.s. "Cathay" and "General Pershing" to attend the biennial conference of the Chinese Medical Association to be held in Canton from November 1 to 8 inclusive. Among the delegates was Dr. C. E. Lim, president of the Association and professor of bacteriology at the Peiping Union Medical College operated by the Rockefeller Foundation. This is of particular interest as Dr. Lim is a graduate of the Hong Kong University which is to be congratulated on having turned out a doctor of such distinction.

The other delegates included Dr. Wu Lien-teh, international authority on plague and director of the National Quarantine Service; Dr. F. C. Yen, director of the National Medical College of Shanghai; Dr. Way Sung-neng, superintendent of the Shanghai Orthopedic Hospital; Dr. G. H. Thompson, head of the division of clinical sciences at the Henry Lester Institute for Medical Re-

WEDDING BELLS

Knox-Illingworth

The Marriage took place at St. John's Cathedral yesterday afternoon of Lt. W. N. R. Knox of the H. M. S. Parthian, and Miss Joan Illingworth, who arrived from England last Wednesday in the Corfu. The bride looked charming in a picture dress of ivory chiffon and had a beautiful tulle veil held in place by a small pearl halo, and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The bride was given away by Lt. Commander Brookes of H.M.S. Parthian, and the best man was Lt. Birch. The bride was attended by Mrs. Cavanagh Mainwaring, and Master Simon Conway was the train bearer, who carried out his duties very well, and looked very smart in a sailor suit. Mrs. Illingworth was very charming in mulberry georgette.

After the ceremony the bridal couple left the Cathedral in a car drawn by a team of sailors from the bridegroom's Submarine. The reception was held at the Roof Garden of the Hong Kong Hotel and was attended by a large crowd. The health of the bride and bridegroom was proposed by Captain Collett, and a short reply was given by Lt. Knox. Later the bridal couple left the hotel for Fanling, where the honeymoon is being spent. The bride's going away dress was pale pink, with a white picture hat trimmed with pink.

search of which Dr. H. G. Earle, former professor of physiology at the Hong Kong University is now director.

ASSOCIATION'S AIMS

For the past week practically every steamer arriving in the colony from North China has brought its full quota of members for the Canton conference. Every medical and public health institution of any importance, both government and private, have sent delegates to take part in the deliberations of this conference.

The Association is a purely scientific body formed mainly for the advancement of modern medicine in China and all qualified doctors, irrespective of race or creed practicing medicine in this country, is eligible for membership. The present delegation to Canton, therefore, consists of representatives from every nationality. The conference will be held in conjunction with the celebration of the hundredth anniversary of the Canton Hospital and it is expected that the gathering will be the most significant one in the medical history of South China.

ARMISTICE DAY RECITAL

Hong Kong Singers' Praiseworthy Objects

CHILDREN TO BENEFIT

The programme of their Armistice Day recital of Elgar's "For the Fallen" and Brahms' "Requiem" indicates that the objects of The Hong Kong Singers are the making of music for its own sake, for the pleasure of others, and incidentally the helping of deserving causes.

It goes on to explain that the proceeds of this recital are to be devoted to St. Dunstons and the Hong Kong Society for the Protection of Children. It is no secret that the choice of these two bodies was that of Lady Southern who The Hong Kong Singers are honoured to have as their President.

The work of St. Dunstons in Regents Park on behalf of the men blinded in the Great War is too well known to require elaboration here, but paradoxically the work of the Hong Kong Society for the Protection of Children in our very midst may not be so familiar, and a few facts may not be out of place.

The Society assists with food or medicine no less than 7,000 poor children each month. It is seldom that its inspectors find cases of cruelty—dire poverty is what they meet with at every turn. Frequently it is found that whole families are struggling to exist on less than $2 per head per month!

NO CHILD IGNORED

As with Barnado's Homes in England, the basic principle of the Society is that no child requiring help shall be refused. This, however, calls for a steady supply of money, and all in Hong Kong who love children and would like to help in the Society's work amongst the children of the Colony are asked to attend the recital at the Cathedral on Armistice night, Monday November 11th. Generous contributions to the collection are solicited, as, in view of the nature of the works to be performed, it was considered by the Singers that advertisements in the Programme would not be in keeping. The very considerable financial sacrifice entailed thereby will it is hoped be more than counterbalanced by the liberality of listeners who appreciate the work of the choir, and the deserving nature of the two societies on whose behalf it is singing on this occasion.

POPPY DAY FUND

A Deserving Cause Worthy Of Support

In addition to the many other ways in which the British Legion fills a need, urgent and widespread, and pays the debt that is our common heritage from the Great War is by help helping ex-officers through the Officers Benevolent Department. Last year 11,800 financial awards to necessitous ex-officers at a cost of £50,039 were made, 481 ex-officers placed in employment, 1,403 provided with clothing, and 1,371 children helped with their education at a cost of £23,263.

The benevolent work of the British Legion is dependent upon voluntary support given in response to the appeals which are made by Haig's Fund.

English Association Begins Activities

Mr. Paterson To Give First Talk

On Tuesday next, November 5th, the Hong Kong Branch of The English Association will begin its activities for the Session 1935-36. Mr. A. H. Paterson B.A. (Oxon) will speak on "The National Theatre".

The English Association is a world-wide Society, and its object is to arrange meetings of people interested in English literature and the English language. It has members of every nationality, race and creed, who find a common interest in the study and discussion of literary topics or linguistic problems. The headquarters of the Central Body is in London, and there are local branches in very city of culture throughout the English-speaking world. The Hong Kong Branch is now beginning its seventh year. It holds regular monthly meetings, from November to April, on the first Tuesday of each month. Each meeting takes the form of a lecture followed by a discussion.

Many members of the local branch have also become members of the Central Body, and are kept in touch with literary activities at home through the pamphlets and bulletins which are published by the English Association during the year. For this central membership there is an extra charge of five dollars in addition to the local subscription of three dollars.

The Helena May Institute, where the meetings are held, kindly offers to cater for tea-parties in the lecture-hall. Those who mean to have tea are asked to order it the day before the meeting from the Matron of the Institute (Tel. 22160) so that a table may be arranged for them.

Membership is open to all who are interested, and there are no formalities to be gone through, other than the handing in of names and subscriptions, which can be done most conveniently at the meetings.

BAZAAR TO HELP THE POOR

C. Y. W. Society Stall, run by the St. Mary's Chinese Catholic Young Ladies Association.

Photo Stall, run by the members of the Photographic Society of Wah Yan College, under the direction of Mr. P. Dragon.

THE POOR OF HONG KONG

In a broadcast talk last night, the Rev. T. Ryan, Editor of the "Rock," gave a pathetic insight of the way in which the poor of Hong Kong exist. He said inter alia:—

I am announced to speak to you this evening on a Bazaar which will be held next Sunday in aid of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, but I must confess that I intended to say very little about the Bazaar and much more about the poor of Hong Kong in whose interest it is being held.

There are two objects gained by this personal visiting of the poor: the first is that in this way it is possible to judge who are those who are most deserving of help, and the second is that this close contact with the poor gives the members who visit them a sympathy and an understanding which are the most essential qualities of all social workers.

What does a poor man or a poor woman mean to most of you who are listening to me? You see poor persons on the street every day, you pass them by drawing yourself away perhaps lest you might touch against them; you recognise them as poor; in a general way, probably, you are sorry for them—and that is all. You feel no more inclination to think of their home life or of their personal conditions than of the life of the wealthy people who pass by in motor-cars, and so you never realise the stark, terrible drama that is being played in the houses that line our teeming back streets—the drama of poverty.

Most of us do not like to think of poverty as anything but a name, a general term for an unpleasant social fact, and our tendency is to keep as far as we can away from the reality. But the reality is staring us in the face. It is all around us, it is being endured by our fellow-men, and it would be cowardly on our part to turn aside from it.

It is on behalf of the poor whom its members personally know that the Society of St. Vincent de Paul appeals. They give no assistance without actually visiting the needy person or family and giving help in the way that seems most practical. It is their greatest sorrow that they can help only a fraction of the deserving cases which are brought to their notice. Their help is only limited by their resources, and at present it is sadly limited by inadequate resources. It had been for many years the custom to give special relief at Christmas time, but last year it was found impossible to do so, and the disappointment was pitiable. This year the calls are greater than ever before, and the chief hope of being able to relieve the increased distress is centred in next Sunday's bazaar.

The members of the Bazaar Committee look forward with confidence this year to a continuation of the public support that has already been shown in fifty-one previous years and they only hope that on account of the greater distress which unquestionably exists the support will be more generous than ever. May I repeat once more that the Bazaar will be held on next Sunday, at Chatham Road, Kowloon, from three o'clock until ten.

M.C.C. MATCH AT PERTH

New Leg Rule In Operation

Perth, Nov. 1. The cricket match between the M.C.C. "visiting team" and West Australia was continued to-day when the M.C.C. closed their innings for 344, principal contributors being Denis Smith 83, Mitchell Innes 58, James Langridge 59. Ditchburn, the left-handed bowler took 4 wickets for 46.

West Australia made 165 for 6, Taate scoring 76. Sims, who has so far taken 4 wickets for 74, dismissed Newman under the new leg rule for the first time applied in Australia.

BUILT ON BRITISH SAVINGS

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 15. "It is vital that Great Britain should resume the position she held before the war as the world's banker," stated Sir George Paish at Malvern last night. He was speaking at the dinner of the West Midland Regional Conference of the National Savings Movement.

Trade, he said, had always been active when there was a plentiful supply of capital in Great Britain available for all purposes. He added:

"It is an astonishing fact that the modern world has been created, in a large measure, by means of the savings of the British people, which have been used very widely for the construction of railways in all countries, the building of steamships, the provision of cables and telephones, and for the general development of the natural wealth of all countries."

Up to the Great War Britain had supplied other nations, and particularly the Dominions, with no less than £4,000,000,000. If the nation again accumulated savings the period of trade depression would be limited and a new period of prosperity would be experienced by all countries.

JAPAN AND NORTH CHINA

While the eye of the world is focussed on the Italo-Ethiopian war, and grave as the situation may be, one must, however, not lose sight of the strained relationship between Japan and China in the North.

Japan has once again presented a set of demands to North China officials, and these, coming so shortly after the settlement of the Charhar Incident in the early part of July this year, should give much food for thought to those having vested interests in China.

We do not wish to appear too pessimistic, but the attitude of the Japanese Military power, since the formation of the puppet state under Emperor Pu Yi, inclines us to the view that Japan would not rest contented unless and until North China is made part and parcel of Manchukuo.

Geographically speaking, North China is necessary to Manchukuo, but the Japanese claims that, without financial assistance from her, the vast resources of North China would remain undeveloped. And that it is only for this reason that Japan is so anxious to separate North China from Nanking. This may or may not be the true objective, but one thing is certain that Japan has so far shown no sincerity in her avowed policy to help China along to a stable government. Under one pretext or the other, Japan may wrest North China from Nanking, and whether the achievement of her object would bring any profit to herself is a problem well worth the study.

Japan has always maintained, and it is not without reason, that China is divided into two parts, namely the South-West Political Council, headed by General Chan Chai Tong, and the Nationalist Government, of which Marshal Chiang Kai Shek is the head. Japan is also aware of the fact that Chiang Kai Shek's power would be reduced to a minimum if deprived of support from the Chekiang Financial Group, headed by T. V. Soong and his clique. It is also common knowledge that this same group is not giving the same measure of support to Chiang Kai Shek as heretofore.

Therefore what better opportunity is there and it is not likely that the Nationalist Government would oppose to any action which Japan may take in the North. Japan may annex North China, but we question the wisdom of such a policy. Already Manchukuo is proving an enormous burden to Japan, and although the economical and agricultural resources of North China are far more potential than those of Manchukuo, still Japan would be confronted with the problem of finding a profitable market for the mineral output and agricultural produce of North China.

We take coal, for instance. Japanese coal is now running a neck to neck competition with the coal coming out of the mines in Chinwangtao and Shanhaikwan. And if North China comes under Japanese suzerainty, she would undoubtedly find herself in the same position as the man who brought coal to Newcastle. This is not the only commodity, and we can name other items from which Japan would derive no profit.

It may be argued that the various foreign powers, as well as China herself, would remain potential buyers of all things coming out from North China. We have our doubt, and Japan need not feel too optimistic on that score. The recent oil monopoly in Manchukuo still leaves a bad taste in the mouth.

U.S.-CANADA ROCKED

Earthquake Over Wide Area

New York, Nov. 1. An enormous area in north-eastern United States and south-eastern Canada was rocked by an earthquake last night. Citizens awoke in alarm in dozens of cities. So far no loss of life has been reported.

IN MONTANA Helena (Mont.), Oct. 31. Having experienced no fewer than 554 earthquake shocks during the past fortnight, scores of inhabitants to-day fled headlong from the city on the occurrence of the severest tremor of the whole series.

Many people abandoned their homes, inadequately clad, their plight being aggravated by the freezing temperature.

One person was killed when a chimney-stack crashed, while scores have been sent to hospital suffering from injuries caused by falling debris.

HEAVY DAMAGE

Helena, Oct. 31. The death toll here is now two, with many more injured and property damage is estimated at over $2,000,000.

Shocks have been felt over an area of 500 miles.

EX-MAYOR OF NEW YORK

Returns To Limelight

New York, Oct. 31. Mr. Jimmy Walker, ex-Mayor of New York, as immaculately dressed as ever, returned to the United States to-day after three years of self-imposed exile.

Screaming sirens and banners inscribed, "Hello, Jimmy!" fluttering from yachts heralded the arrival in harbour of the liner Manhattan, on which Mr. Walker and his wife travelled.

The event was celebrated as a public occasion. Four thousand citizens waited at the pier, and bands played the ex-Mayor's favourite tunes.

It is generally believed that Mr. Walker, as a Tammany Hall candidate, will attempt to regain the mayoralty at the next election.

ELECTION CANDIDATES FROM ULSTER

Belfast, Nov. 1.

For the first time since the Sinn Féin movement began, the Irish republicans who demand that the whole of Ireland become one undivided republic state have decided to nominate candidates in Ulster for the British parliamentary elections.

At the same time they declare emphatically that they have no intention of taking seats at Westminster but will fight the election merely as a demonstration for Irish Independence.

Although the republican nationalists in Ulster number about one third of the total population they have hitherto never been able to secure the election of more than two members as against nine for the English unionists.

Two women belonging to the Roman Catholic church, were sentenced here on Thursday by the Summary Court to ten months imprisonment for calling a Catholic priest on the public street "currency smuggler". HALLOWE'EN DINNER

Volunteer Headquarters Celebration

"Hallowe'en" was duly celebrated by the Scottish Company of the Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps when the Annual Dinner of the Company was held at Volunteer Headquarters, last night.

In the absence of Capt. H. R. Forsyth, Lt. A. W. Brown presided at the function which was largely attended. Prior to the dinner the current at the headquarters failed and those present had to make the best out of the candles provided which, however, seemed to have added much to the merriment of the party.

The official party at the dinner was: Capt. P. S. M. Wilkinson, Major M. A. Johnson, M.M., Mr. J. W. C. Bonnar, Dr. J. C. Macgown (Chieftain St. Andrew's Society), Lt.-Col. H. B. L. Dowling, O.B.E. (Commandant H.K.V.D.C.), Mr. A. Stevenson, Major E. J. R. Mitchell, O.B.E., Mr. D. J. Gilmore, Mr. H. C. Hopkins.

Lt. Brown, proposing the toast of the Guests, expressed thanks at the success of the Company during the past season and expressed regret at the impending departure of the Adjutant, Capt. Wilkinson, who he felt sure had a soft spot in his heart for the Scottish Company.

Lt. Brown also thanked Lieut. Sanderson and Lieut. Quartermaster Westlake for the work they had done in connection with the preparation of the function.

Replying to the toast, Dr. Macgown remarked that if any Scotsmen in the Company hear of any young Scotsman coming to the Colony he should get in touch with him and try to get him to join up as soon as possible. He feared that if the numbers were not kept up the Company would lose its identity and its life.

In conclusion he expressed thanks on behalf of the guests for their hospitality and wished them every success and hoped they would have many more happy gatherings of a similar nature.

"MAN STILL A SAVAGE"

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 10. Dr. Inge, former Dean of St. Paul's yesterday introduced a series of broadcast talks on "The Dangers of Being Human," by declaring that man is still a savage.

"Man, who began as an ape affected with megalomania," he said, "is now essentially the savage who fancies himself civilised. Hence the danger. He calls himself homo sapiens, a title which he has done little to earn."

In his religious worship man had an organ instead of a tom-tom or a bull-roarer, but the idea was the same. The sophisticated savage had much the same taste as the primitive.

"But look at the fashions," said Dr. Inge. "The savage woman puts a ring through her nose; the civilised lady through her ears. The Chinese ladies used to bind the feet; the civilised lady puts every organ of her body out of shape by high heels."

"The Tottenot lady prides herself on projecting portentously behind—steatopygia is the scientific name; the post-war English girl tries to obliterate all the curves in which female beauty consists."

NAVAL PROGRAMMES OF POWERS (Special Air Mail Service) London, Oct. 10. The public learned to-day for the first time that a substantial reduction in the period to be covered by the proposed declaration of naval construction has been suggested. The importance of this modification is not realized by the Press, but is evidently affecting the official attitude.

Mr. Hirota, the Foreign Minister, reporting a recent conversation with Sir Robert Clive, the British Ambassador, on the subject, brought the suggested alteration to the Cabinet's notice yesterday and intimated that the Japanese reply, which is being drafted by representatives of the Foreign Office and Admiralty, was not likely to be ready this week.

The vernacular Press, evidently inspired by information from naval sources, announced this morning that the answer would repeat that recognition of the demand for equality was an indispensable condition of further discussions. This doubtless represents the Navy's attitude, but the delay in replying suggests that the Foreign Office is endeavouring to avoid a course which might saddle Japan with the responsibility for a breakdown of negotiations.

HISTORIC PAPER DESTROYED (Special Air Mail Service) London, Oct. 15. It has now been established that the document in which Kaiser Karl of Austria resigned his rights to the Austrian throne was lost in the famous fire which occurred at the Palace of Justice on July 15, 1935.

This historic paper bore the date of November 11, 1918, and was registered in the archives as "the abdication of His Majesty, Kaiser Karl I. All Highest Manifesto regarding All Highest's abdication from participating in the conduct of affairs of State. Ad Acta 12 November."

The document was first of all not kept among the other official records, but was in an iron safe. Some years later it was transferred to the Court and State archives, and later on to the depot of the Ministry of Justice in the basement of the Palace of Justice.

Legitimists in Austria, emphasise that this document is, in any case, without special importance as it concerned only the person of the late Emperor Karl, and was not binding on his successors.

Two cases of notifiable diseases were reported during the 24 hours ended on October 31. There was one case of diphtheria and one case of enteric fever.

ALL PARTIES ON PLATFORM AT PEACE MEETING

ELOQUENT SPEECH BY PREMIER

League As Instrument Of World Peace

London, November 1.

In the midst of a vigorous General Election campaign, leading members of all parties were represented yesterday at the great non-party peace meetings.

Six thousand people attended the League of Nations Union meeting at Albert Hall last night and the presence on one platform just before the General Election of representatives of all three parties was referred to by the Archbishop of Canterbury, who occupied the chair, as being an event of almost unprecedented significance.

He directed attention of the Governments throughout the world to this demonstration of national unity on a grave issue now before the League of Nations. The meeting unanimously pledged itself to support of the League in measures deemed necessary to maintain the provisions of the Covenant by collective security.

Lord Cecil said there was no possibility of the League failure in the present crisis except the possibility of want of resolution of part of the League powers.

Sir Austen Chamberlain said it was neither affection for Abyssinia nor dislike of Italy that brought him to the meeting. It was his deep and profound conviction that if treaties solemnly signed, covenants freely undertaken, and pledges to pursue "peaceful regulation of disputes between nations and to abjure war as instrument of national policy could be broken, it was idle to pretend peace would anywhere be secure. The nations would go back to savagery and there would be no faith between them.

IMPENITENT PATRIOT

Earlier to-day the Prime Minister at a meeting of the Peace Society delivered an eloquent speech which ranged over the whole field of international relations. In the course of it he said that by the law of the covenant they were bound over to make the peace, but they could not make peace alone. It took two to make a quarrel and it would take all to make the peace.

Referring to the scope of the League he said: "We mean nothing by the League if we are not prepared in the end and after grave and careful trial to take action to enforce its judgment. I am an impenitent patriot, but England is no less England because she is a member of the League. She surrenders nothing she would wish to retain merely because she wishes to live at peace with other nations. The League will grow in strength as we respect the individuality of nations which compose it.

RELATIONS TESTED

"I am certain there are millions of American citizens who are watching with lively sympathy our efforts to make the League an instrument of world peace. Germany has left the League. We regret it. But the future is open and I trust that a solution may not be impossible. Japan is a world power which has turned her back on the rest of the world. We must look fairly at her reasons for this. We deeply in criticism of the League. If the League only exists to keep things as they are it will become desecrated and crumble into dust. But change must come primarily from within the League. It must be ordered evolution.

"The League is living and it gains adherents. No long ago it was strengthened by the advent of the Soviet Union. Old relations with old friends are being put to the strain but they cannot be fundamentally impaired.

ANGLO-FRENCH UNITY

"Three are elements in France that have not seen eye to eye with us, but there is solidarity between the two Governments as loyal members of the League and that is what really matters.

The dispute between the League and Italy is real, but it is not more real than our friendship. We believe that Italy is rashly departing from her own great traditions, but we are bound in no spirit of national antagonism against Italy. In being true to our pledged word to the League we also wish to preserve old friendship. We are bound over to make the peace. It may not be an easy task. But we accept it.

NEW POSTS IN BRITAIN

Forecast By Berlin Editor

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, November 1, 4:30 p.m.)

Berlin, Nov. 1.

The British minister for the League of Nations affairs, Mr. Anthony Eden, will become either War Minister or First Lord of the Admiralty after the forthcoming elections, while the Foreign Secretary, Sir Samuel Hoare, will add Mr. Eden's present position to his own according to a message received by "Berliner Tageblatt" from Geneva from its editor Paul Scheffer, who claims to have the information from British quarters.

The report states that although the services rendered by Mr. Eden in his present post are generally appreciated, it is considered advisable by the British Government to unite the direction of British foreign policy in one hand.

British quarters in Geneva, according to Scheffer, furthermore predict that Mr. Winston Churchill will become "Co-ordination Minister" for the Army, Navy and Air Force.

MEETING AT GENEVA

Final Decision On Sanctions

Geneva, Oct. 31.

The Committee of 18 states met at eleven o'clock at a secret session with the object of arriving at final decisions regarding sanctions, and at 5 o'clock the great commission in which almost all the members of the League of Nations were represented, met at a public session.

The impression here is that the deliberations will continue for several days, during which time the discussion on the possibility of ending the conflict itself altogether, will go on simultaneously.

Mr. Anthony Eden is already in Geneva, but M. Laval who left Paris on Thursday night with Sir Samuel Hoare and Baron Aloisi, is due here on Friday. Italian quarters assert that Baron Aloisi is coming because he was asked by his League of Nations colleagues to appear. If this proves correct, it is indicated that the intention is to discuss with Mr. Eden the proposals that will be submitted afterwards to Mussolini.

The Committee of 18 have been in discussion for the last two hours but arrived at no definite conclusion on the question of whether or not October 19 will be taken as the date before which all existing contracts may still be executed. Similarly no decisions have been reached about the fate of clearing the agreements under sanctions. Up till now, 45 states have agreed to apply an arms embargo, 43 on a credit ban and 42 on other economic sanctions. Of the ten member states who were asked to declare their attitude towards sanctions, only the United States have answered so.

The plenary session of the conference is not expected for the time being. The economic finance sub-committees meet on Friday at 6:30 o'clock.

SHOOTING OUTRAGE IN NANKING

Attempt To Assassinate Mr. Wang Ching Wei

Deep sympathy and hopes for Mr. Wang Ching-wei's recovery have been expressed from London on receipt of news of the sensational occurrence in Nanking on Friday morning when the Chinese Foreign Minister received three bullet wounds and two other officials were also injured.

The outrage occurred when a picture was being taken prior to the opening of the conference of Chinese leaders. General Chiang Kai-shek fortunately remained inside the conference building at the time and thereby escaped possible injury or death.

Latest reports state that Mr. Wang is progressing favourably, two of the bullets having been extracted. The assailant was a Chinese newspaper reporter, who was himself wounded and taken to hospital. Two confederates who took an active part in the attack were also arrested together with six suspects.

Shanghai, Nov. 1.

Mr. Wang Ching-wei was rushed by car to the Central Hospital, where an operation was immediately performed.

The assailant was a Chinese newspaper correspondent, whose name has not been disclosed. He was shot down by Mr. Wang's bodyguards and taken to the same hospital, where his condition was pronounced as serious.

The shooting occurred just after the brief opening ceremony, when the delegates smilingly faced a battery of photographers. The conference, which was convened to consider among other matters, the Sino-Japanese issues and a rapprochement between Nanking and Canton, has been adjourned indefinitely.

A heavy cordon of police and troops has been thrown round the Central Hospital, and all callers are being closely searched and questioned. Some are being detained.

The bullet struck Mr. Wang Ching-wei just above the cheek. The assailant underwent an operation. The condition of Mr. Chang Chi and Mr. Kar Nai-kwang is very serious.

The disrupted conference was to have been the forerunner of the often postponed Fifth All-China Kuomintang Congress, now scheduled to meet on November 12. The last congress was held in 1931.

TWO ACCOMPLICES

The identity of the assailant, who was shot down and admitted to hospital, is now established as Sun Ming-shun, a Chinese reporter. While he was being seized two well-armed accomplices who participated in the attack escaped into the conference building and fired on the police and troops who tried to arrest them. They finally surrendered two hours later after exhausting their carefully used ammunition.

Mr. Wang Ching-wei probably owed his life to the gallant intervention of Mr. Chang Chi, who grappled with the reporter and deflected his shots, one of which struck him in the hand. Mr. Wang Ching-wei was hit three times.

CHIANG'S ESCAPE

General Chiang Kai-shek luckily remained inside the conference building while the pictures were being taken, thereby escaping possible injury or death.

The attempt on Mr. Wang Ching-wei's life is attributed to resentment against his alleged pro-Japanese policy.

Meanwhile in view of the outrage special precautions have been taken to protect General Feng Yu-hsiang who arrived at Pukow at 11.15 a.m. Only officials were allowed at the station, pressmen not being permitted to interview him.

BULLETS EXTRACTED

Shanghai, Nov. 1.

A rumour that Mr. Wang Ching-wei had passed away was emphatically denied in Nanking where it was officially announced this afternoon that he was progressing favourably.

General Chiang Kai-shek on hearing the shots ran out from the conference hall and helped to carry Mr. Wang to the car and later visited him in the hospital. Mr. Wang was able to speak, but Chiang urged him not to talk and take a rest.

"One bullet entered Mr. Wang's cheek, another in arm and a third in the back. The first two bullets have already been extracted.

Marshal Chang Hsueh-shan with his bare hands overpowered and disarmed one of the would-be assassins, who had taken refuge in the conference building and kicked him to the ground but was not wounded.

It transpires that the ring-leader's name is Sung Feng-min, not Sun Ming-shun, about 20 years old. He wore a coat and a spring overcoat in which the automatic was concealed.

Besides the three assailants six suspects have now been arrested.

HOSPITAL BULLETIN

Nanking, Nov. 1.

President Wang Ching-wei, of Executive Yuan, is in comparatively good spirit, as he is able to carry on his conversations distinctly, according to a bulletin issued jointly by the Central Hospital and Dr. Chu Min-yi, Secretary-General of Executive Yuan, at noon to-day.

It is learned from the physicians of the Central Hospital, who have examined President Wang, that Wang's injuries are not serious.

The bulletin says that President Wang received three bullet wounds, one on his left cheek, one in the left arm and one in the back rib-bone. The X-Ray examination conducted at 11 o'clock this morning showed that the bullet, which entered the cheek, had not penetrated into the cheek-bone. The bullet in the left arm has been extracted and it was announced that neither the bone nor the vein-nerve are affected.

The whereabouts of the bullet in the back rib-bone, however, has not been discovered and the examination will be continued in the afternoon.

It was ascertained that the firing took place at 9:30 o'clock this morning after a group picture of the C.E.C. and C.S.C. members was taken. As the members were about to ascend the second floor of the building, of the Central Party Headquarters, for the preparatory meeting of the Sixth Plenary Session, the assassin fired several shots, three of which hit President Wang.

LONDON COMMENT

London, Nov. 1.

Early evening newspaper placards announced the dastardly attack on Mr. Wang Ching-wei, which is a prominent feature of the news pages.

Chinese interested circles are deeply shocked and pay warm tribute to Mr. Wang's high disinterested character, his patriotic labours for the country, and his maintenance of the balance between the civil and the military elements in the Nanking Government.

It is pointed out as a cruel paradox that he was obviously the victim of pro-Japanese policy for which it was generally believed he was not personally responsible.

Earnest hopes are expressed for the recovery of a man so difficult to replace and so necessary in the present critical state of Chinese fortunes.

LORD LYTTON

London, Nov. 1.

Lord Lytton, seen by Reuter, said: "I knew Mr. Wang Ching-wei well. He always took the chair at the meetings of our Commission in Peiping and Nanking. He was remarkably lucid and clear-sighted and handled the meetings excellently."

"I frequently met him privately and was greatly struck by his personal charm, ability, convincing sincerity and devotion to the development of constitutional government in China."

"He is unquestionably a great man and a patriot. I grieve to hear of the dastardly attack and hope that he recovers for his own sake and that of China."

NEWS FROM THE WAR FRONTS

Addis Ababa, Oct. 31.

Italian troops, consisting of half European and half native, numbering 15,000 strong, are slowly approaching Danakil desert where the Asla wells are situated. But wild tribes of Assalmaras and others are making the water undrinkable by adding salt.

Italian troops are moving from Mogalle eastward and are laying down roads between Mentah and Addoba to facilitate military operations.

Italian cavalry has reached Imuum. A new air base is being made north of Mussa from which Italian airmen will make reconnaissance flights.

PRECAUTIONS TAKEN

Asmara, Oct. 31.

In order to prevent an outflanking movement by the Ethiopians on the right of the line, the Italians have erected pill-boxes and machine-gun emplacements to sweep the surrounding rises and are adopting similar precaution on their left wing.

They have constructed a strong line of small forts at strategic points along a small watershed, to prevent a flank attack from Danabit.

HEAVY CASUALTIES

Paris, Oct. 31.

Three thousand five hundred Ethiopians were killed or wounded in the recent violent fighting in Ogaden, according to private information received from the Addis Ababa correspondent for "Havas."

The fighting has been particularly heavy around Uluat which the Ethiopians unsuccessfully attacked.

The Ethiopians are described as having shown heroic courage against infinitely better armed adversaries and their commander, Hedjaz Abde Kimsel is reported to have been killed.

FEELING AGAINST BRITAIN

Rome, Oct. 31.

Anti-British demonstrations organised by several hundred students who marched through the centre of the city displaying banners with the inscription "Down with Eden" assumed such threatening aspect that most shops put up their shutters especially along the chief Corso.

Several rowdies began tearing down name plates of British shops and firms, but no serious damage was done, as the police dispersed the demonstrators in time.

LOCAL FOOTBALL FORECASTS

Interesting Review Of Individual Players

BY "PIVOT"

The wet weather during last Saturday somewhat marred the standard of play in the Football Leagues but this was more than compensated on Sunday when the Army and Navy played a brilliant drawn game in the Football Cup before a good sized crowd.

The results in the other matches turned out very much as expected. The Lincolns won a runaway match from the Saints, and in a game in which penalties played a predominant part the Police beat the Club by the odd goal in three.

The Army-Navy clash provided the fans with plenty of thrills. The standard throughout was high and each and every one of the twenty two players who took part in the game excelled at one period or other.

The Navy defence played a first rate game and had the Army forwards well covered. The latter lost many opportunities in being unable to shoot, even Ridley and Co. were partly responsible for this error.

Outplayed and outmanoeuvred for the greater part of the game, Saint Joseph's College proved no match for the nippy Lincolns team who trounced them by six clear goals. Lincolns were definitely the superior team and did as they liked. The only man of note in the College team was Costa who literally played himself to a standstill in trying to infuse life in the College boys.

The Fusiliers had no difficulty in overcoming the weak R.A. (F) by four goals to two in a very interesting game. If somewhat spoilt by the slippery condition of the ground. As usual, Rowlands played his sound game while Durham, in the Gunners' goal saved many a certain point. Kereghar was a tower of strength in the Fusiliers intermediate line and his numerous forward passes to his men were delightful to behold. Sullivan was a hardworking forward. Edmunds for the Gunners was in the limelight but could do very little without support from his men.

PENALTIES DECIDE

The Police were fortunate to have collected both points from the Club as on the run of play the former had as much of the play as the latter.

For the Police McHardy was in fine fettle stopping everything that went his way. Their defence was not quite sound. Gough and Brittain were unable to distribute the right kind of passes to their forwards. Green and Moss were about the best men on view in the forward line, although Stephens after playing a sound game in the first half somewhat deteriorated at a later stage.

The Club's defence was sound without being brilliant. Strange did a good day's work by his first time clearances. Bickford on the left flank was not properly looked after and many of the passes which were directed to the opposite side should have been piled on to him.

A penalty against Police was converted by Forrow and the Police drew level through another given against Club. After drawing level they went ahead from another penalty. Moss being the marksman on both occasions.

GUNNERS' BAD DAY

Playing a brand of football that was as good as the Kowloon's but without the finish and polish of Kowloon, the Gunners (S) were beaten to the tune of four goals to nil in a fast but scrappy game.

Kowloon's forward line played a great game. Their insideness being able to take a "pot shot" at goal while on the run and the many centres from the wing men did not go begging in this way. The Whites and Knocks played well.

The Navy lads continued in their winning vein by beating the E. Lancs by four goals to one. They proved that they were vastly superior to the soldiers' in almost every department. Their forward line was dangerous whenever on the move and backed up by a strong intermediate line who time and again plied them with first time passes they had their work cut short in the matter of goal getting.

After a gruelling first half in which the score stood at nothing the soldiers rearguard fell away somewhat and it was here that the Navy lads availed themselves of the opportunities to pile up their score.

THIS WEEK'S GAMES

The return of the Chinese teams from the North after the All China Meet will somewhat heighten interest in this week's programme.

Their successes in the Meet will all the more be regarded as a criterion of their being potential challengers for the chief honours and the Navy St. China "A" drawing tomorrow will be the drawing card for this week's game. Granting the Navy are playing as well as ever I do not think they will be able to hold up the nippy Chinese forwards whose perfect teamwork and forward line is second to none in the Colony. Although the result will be a very close one I believe the Chinese will get away with it.

The Chinese Athletic will be playing against the E. Lancs on the Sookunpoo ground tomorrow also. The soldiers have not been so impressive of late. The Athletic although do not boast of an all round well-balanced team will be able to hold the soldiers to at least 75 per cent. of the exchanges and should just about make it.

The other Chinese team S. China "B" is pitted against the Fusiliers. This game is worth going a long way to see. Both are just as good. The respective modes of play may differ but I do not think the result, whichever way it goes will not be a big one.

From what I have been told the S. China "B" is being reinforced by several well-known players and if this is true the soldiers will have to be on their toes to stop them or else they will be in for a heavy defeat.

Police should get away with the points from Kowloon while the Lincolns H.K.F. Club game will provide a good tussle. The match should end in a draw.

The two R.A.'s teams are in for defeats unless they can bring off something better than their previous forms. R.A. (S), I think ought to give the College boys a good run for the points but The Recreation should win against the other team.

TROPHY COMPETITION RESULTS

The competition for the trophy presented by the Order of St. John of Jerusalem and the Red Cross Society, was played for over the Old and New Courses at Fanling during October.

There were 98 entries in all—87 on the Old Course and the remainder on the New.

Captain H. B. Mitchell (10) won, being 4 up.

Other scores were:

H. A. Browning (17) 2 up; A. W. M. Scott (10) and W. W. C. Shewan (17) 1 up each

FRIENDLY HOCKEY

Radio Defeated

A friendly hockey match was played between the Radio Sports Club and Hong Kong on the Caroline Hill ground yesterday, when the latter side won by 2 goals to one after a very closely contested encounter.

Both of the goals scored by the winners were through Raja Khan, who played a good game at left in.

The losers took the lead first through Gurbuchan Singh. This goal was the result of a very fine piece of work on his part.

Ramus, the right wing for the Hong Kong Brigade, was in no small way responsible for his side's two goals. His clever passing and stick work helped Raja Khan to net the points.

The score at the interval was 2-1, and in the second half no goal was registered. The winners had more of the play in the last stanza, but the first half was very evenly fought. They were very unfortunally not to have increased their lead in the second half.

LADIES HOCKEY ASSOCIATION

Election Of New Officers

The Second Annual Meeting of the Hong Kong Ladies Hockey Association was held yesterday at the Gloucester Building, and was attended by a large number of members representing the various hockey clubs in the Colony.

Miss H. M. Knill who presided over the meeting said that Mrs. T. E. Pearce, the President, had asked to be excused from the meeting.

The report and accounts were read and approved, and the election of officers for the season 1935/8 then took place.

The following were elected: President: Mrs. T. E. Pearce. Vice-Pres. Miss J. Dalziel. Hon. Sec. and Treasurer: Mrs. P. M. Harrop.

Asst. Hon. Sec.: Miss J. Smalley. Committee: Miss F. Walker and Miss P. Whitley (C.B.A.)

Miss H. Knill and Miss M. McCall (C.B.S.)

Miss H. Bockler and Miss H. Chubb (D.G.S.)

Miss E. Gray and Miss M. Smalley (H.K.L.)

Miss M. Alves and Miss M. Raza (C. de R.)

Miss P. Glittins and Miss G. White (St. A.)

Miss A. Fowler and Miss E. Thompson (L. Ladies)

There were two divisions to be run in connection with the Hockey League, Senior Division which would play in the Caer Clarke Cup, competition, and a cup presented by Mr. Brawn for the Junior Division League. Teams entered for the Senior Division are:—St. An-draws, "Y" Ladies, Club de Recreio, H.K. Ladies and C.B.A.

The teams for the Junior Division are:—H.K. Ladies, C.B.A., C.B.S., D.G.S., "Y" Ladies.

A rule was passed which stated, "a player having played for a team in the Senior Division more than twice could not play for a team in the Junior Division, unless the committee gave their approval."

A Bridge and Mahjong party will be held at Gloucester Building on Friday November 22 at 3.30 p.m., the proceeds of which will be devoted to sending a team to Shanghai early next year.

CLUB BEATEN

In a friendly hockey game at the Y.M.C.A. ground (King's Park) yesterday, the second string of the Lincolnshire Regiment beat the Hong Kong Club 2nd. Eleven by 3 goals to one.

It was a fast game and the soldiers thoroughly deserved the victory. The Club scored the first goal through Senior with a beautiful corner shot which gave the Lincoln's custodian no chances at all.

At this stage the Soldiers took the offensive and equalized; the shot coming from the stick of Driver. Two further goals were scored in the second half.

WORLD'S RAREST STAMP

For Sale In London

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 15.

The rarest postage stamp in the world, the one cent British Guiana, issued in 1856, is to be offered at Harmer and Roake's auction galleries Arundel-street, Strand, on October 30.

This stamp, the only impression known to exist, was sold in the famous Ferrari sale in Paris on April 6, 1922, for £7,350—the highest price ever paid for a single postage stamp. Its purchaser was the late Mr. Arthur M. Hind, of Uxbridge, New York State, one of the world's greatest philatelists, whose collection was sold recently in another London auction room for nearly £130,000.

This British Guiana stamp, which is insured for £10,000, was not included in the sale, and is now being offered by order of the late Mr. Hind's widow. Roughly printed in a Georgetown newspaper office, it was first discovered in 1872 in a schoolboy's collection. He, it is said, disposed of it to another collector for six shillings.

Years later it came into the possession of the late Count Philippe La Renotiere Von Ferrar, at a cost of £155. Ferrar's collection was sequestered by the French Government during the Great War, and was sold by auction for over £400,000.

COCHET WINS

Aragon Outplayed
In Tennis Duel

In a game full of interesting exchanges, R. H. Cochet beat F. Aragon by 7-5, 6-4, 3-6, and 6-2 in the third day of the professional tennis exhibition games held at the K.C.C. ground yesterday before a fairly large attendance.

Both men had to call out their best in this encounter and many of the exchanges in which first one and then the other obtained the ascendancy were fought out at the base line. Cochet in this respect on many occasions beguiled Aragon into making errors in his returns after a lengthy rally.

Both men played a masterly game and it was only the experience and staying power of the Frenchman that won the day. Their bagful of tricks and strikes were all called out to do service. First Aragon would win his point by a chop spin and then Cochet would return with a daisy cutter or a quick drive along the side line. Aragon was hitting harder than Cochet and invariably after a long exchange of shots he would hit the ball into the net after Cochet had outpositioned him. It was a "new brand" of tennis the local audience was treated to yesterday and it was certainly an "object lesson" to the local tennis enthusiasts. Cochet's shots which appeared so effortless, all had sting behind them.

THE FIRST SET

Cochet won the first set by 7-5 after half an hour's play. Aragon won the first game but Cochet captured the next two for the Filipino to draw level on the fourth game. He continued to take the next two games but the Frenchman came back into the picture by winning the 7th and 8th games. The 10th game was won by Aragon and the very next saw him reeling before the "ace service" of Cochet, who won the next two games and set.

Cochet won the second set at 6-4 after Aragon had a lead of 3-1. The third set saw Aragon playing a determined game and after Cochet had drawn level at 3-3 the Filipino took the next three games in a row to win the set by 6-3. The last set saw Aragon tiring and Cochet came into his own again to win the set with but the loss of two games.

Following this Cochet partnered D. S. Green in a doubles knock up against Aragon and Canavaro.

COCHET LEAVING

Seen after the game Henri Cochet said that he is leaving the Colony this morning with Madame Cochet by the s.s. Melore for Australia, where he will take part in exhibition games there. Asked about the standard of local tennis here the French ace said that it was fair and asked if there was room for improvement he replied "Ah! that will all depend." His stay here he said had been quite enjoyable and he and Madame Cochet hoped to be back with us again in the Spring.

Francisco Aragon is also leaving this morning by the same boat for Manila.

JEALOUSY

Doctor To Open A Clinic

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 15.

Interest has been aroused here by the recent researches of Dr. Wilhelm Stekel into the causes of jealousy.

Dr. Stekel claims that there has been a great increase in jealousy cases since the world crisis. The reason, he says, is that an unemployed person has more time to devote to his own ego, and therefore discovers many things which he had not noticed before. Social problems help the growth of pathological jealousy.

Dr. Stekel, who intends to open a clinic for people suffering from jealousy, thinks that patients will find great relief if they can discuss their case with a doctor. If the jealousy is unfounded, the patient must be convinced by careful persuasion that his fears are absolutely without any foundation.

People, he goes on, are often jealous not only of persons but of animals, and even of things.

Dr. Stekel mentions the case of a scientist who could not forget that his wife had had a flirtation twenty-five years previously.

"A WAR JUNK"

Cannon And Rifles
On Chinese Craft

An unlicensed junk, which when boarded by the Police at Lung Shin Wan Bay turned out to be a miniature warship, was the experience of the authorities which was revealed at the Kowloon Magistrates' court yesterday, when Au Hip Fung (35) master of the junk in question, was charged on several counts relating to the possession of arms and ammunition.

It was stated that an old fashioned cannon, three rifles, 231 rounds of ammunition, five cartridge clips, three cartridge cases and about 10 lbs. of gun-powder were found on the vessel.

The charges preferred against defendant read (a) possession of arms without a licence; (b) possession of 10 lbs. of gun-powder; and (c) failing to licence his junk. Defendant pleaded guilty to all the charges and nominal fines totalling $25 were imposed.

Sub-Inspector A. Wright stated that about 1 p.m. on Thursday the No. 4 Police launch was on a routine cruise when defendant's junk was seen at Lung Shin Wan Bay. Sergeant Hughes went on board the junk and made a search and found the arms on her. It was also discovered that the vessel had not been licensed.

Defendant explained that he had come from Tang Chuen and was on his way to Sam Mun, and that he had gone to Lung Shin Wan Bay for shelter because of strong winds.

The police stated that they were satisfied that defendant had possession of the arms purely for self-defence.

A fine of $10, with the alternative of 14 days imprisonment, was imposed on both the first and third charges, and on the second defendant was fined $5 or seven days. An order was made for the retention of the arms by the police until such time as defendant obtained a permit.

ROYAL AIR FORCE

Lights On Balloons

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 15.

The lights to be carried by a captive balloon or kite are modified by an amendment to King's Regulations. Formerly a fixed balloon carried three lights, one over the other, 12ft. apart, the highest and lowest red and the middle one white.

In future two lights will be displayed, a white light being placed 12ft. vertically above a red light. Both are to be visible in all directions, as far as practicable, at a distance of at least 2½ miles, and the white light is to be between 15ft. and 30ft. below the basket, or if there is no basket, below the lowest part of the balloon. In addition from the mooring cable similar white and red lights are to be shown at intervals of 1,000ft. If the lowest group is obscured by clouds an additional group is to be displayed below the cloud base. The position of the object to which the balloon is moored on the ground will be similarly marked by white and red lights.

LAST MONTH'S WEATHER

Cloudy And Damp.

October, which is normally the sunniest month of the year, was unusually cloudy and damp. The strong anticyclone, which is expected to develop over China at this time of year, never became firmly established; consequently the N.E. monsoon was feeble, and the weather unusually warm. In fact the mean temperature for October was only 0.7°F. lower than that for September. The Colony was affected by one typhoon during the month; this crossed the China Sea on a W.N.W. track, passing about 140 miles to the S. of Hong Kong on the morning of the 7th, and producing a maximum gust velocity of 83 m.p.h.

The mean temperature for the month was 77.7°F. against a normal of 76.2. A maximum temperature of 89.0 was recorded on the 8th, and a minimum of 70.0 on the 26th and 27th. The mean relative humidity was 84%, which is 12%,

BAN ON LOANS
AND CREDITS

Every Contingency
Covered

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 15.

The Financial Sub-Committee has, I am authoritatively informed, virtually concluded its work, writes a correspondent. It can be predicted, though naturally no official text is available, that the Sub-Committee's recommendations will be on the following lines:—

(1) Prohibition of all loans or banking or other credits to "or on behalf of" the Italian Government; also the prohibition of all subscriptions to loans issued in Italy, "or elsewhere," for the benefit of the Italian Government.

(2) Prohibition of all loans, issues of shares or capital flotations for any concern or concerns in Italian territory, and of all private or corporate subscriptions to any such loans, issues or shares or capital flotations.

(3) Prohibition of all banking credits for Italy other than those direct credits for the Italian Government prohibited in the first paragraph.

(4) Prohibition of all transactions involving the discounting or acceptance of bills on Italian behalf, public or private.

These measures are not half measures. They have been carefully drafted to meet every possible contingency, and they will be strengthened as experience may dictate in the future.

I am told that the Financial Sub-Committee's work owes much to the efforts of M. Coulondre, the French representative, and of M. Titulescu, of Rumania.

VANCOUVER'S 50th
BIRTHDAY

Vancouver, one of the key ports of the world, is preparing to celebrate her fiftieth anniversary. In 1885 her people, numbering a mere thousand, with the Pacific before them and the great ramparts of the Rockies cutting them from the continent behind, had the temerity to decide to apply for a Charter of Incorporation. They felt the greatness that was to come.

It was only in 1886, the actual year of the incorporation, that the harbour, one of the finest natural waterways in the world, was put to commercial use. Twenty-five ships sailing proudly out with thirty million feet of lumber. Timber, in fact, formed the early foundations of its prosperity, its only manufacturing plants at the time of its incorporation being three sawmills. But its first trans-Pacific cargoes forecast the national ramifications of its later functions, for they consisted of China tea destined for Eastern Canada.

PLEASURE RESORT

Since that time the world has been quick to seize the advantages of the position, and the facilities which Vancouver offers. And with that appreciation Vancouver has grown to the status of a city with 350,000 people, and last year nearly 17,000 vessels, under the flags of thirteen countries, entered and left her harbour, accounting for importing to 3,056,068 tons, and exports totalling 3,203,513 tons.

Vancouver is remarkable also among ports in that it is a pleasure resort as well as a focal point of industry. Its growth as a residential area has caused it to over-run the boundaries of Burrard Inlet, where one of the suburbs of what is known as West Vancouver is one of the best-planned garden cities in the world. Vancouver boasts nine golf courses, the magnificent Stanley Park and mountain ranges within easy reach. On the same day one can ski on the hills and watch people swimming in the sea. Within a hundred miles of Vancouver are two Alpine playgrounds, Mount Baker and Garibaldi Park.

To mark the fiftieth milestone a committee has been formed in Vancouver, and details of the celebration are now being prepared in conjunction with the appropriate authorities in other parts of Canada and this country.

greater than the normal, and is a record for the month.

The total sunshine recorded was 765 hours, against a normal of 217 hours.

Rainfall amounted to 5.81 inches, which is 1.27 inches in excess of the normal. Up to midnight on October 31st the total rainfall for the year was 69.92 inches, against a normal of 82.15 inches.

THE WONDERFUL
HERBAL OINTMENT

If your skin is sore, injured or diseased, Zam-Buk is the one remedy that can be depended upon to soothe and cure. Smarting pain, soreness and irritation are quickly ended by this famous Zam-Buk ointment. It has powerful (yet perfectly safe) antiseptic properties that destroy poison germs in wounds, sores, abscesses, ulcers, etc. It expels all bad matter and grows new skin.

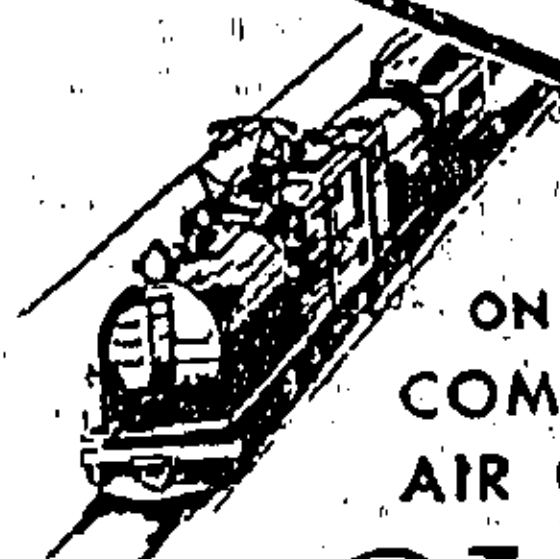

Zam-Buk is so highly-refined that it soaks readily into the tiny pores, purifying and healing in deeper tissues as well as the surface skin. The marvellous soothing and curative powers of Zam-Buk are due to its rare herbal origin, refinement and guaranteed freedom from animal fat. Never be without a box of Zam-Buk.

ANOTHER SHARP RISE IN TIN

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 15.
A further sharp rise, to £240 per ton, occurred in the price of tin on the Metal Exchange to-day. This followed on a rise of £8 5s. yesterday, cash tin being dealt in at £235 15s. after hours last evening.
The margin between buying and selling prices to-day was as much as £4 a ton.
The three months' quotation for tin advanced another £4 10s. to £227 15s. Since the end of last week cash tin has advanced by over £15, and three months by over £11 10s.
Other base metals were steady. Lead, spelter, and cash copper remained unchanged, while forward copper was 1s. 3d. higher.

BERLIN SHARE MARKET

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright)]

Berlin, Oct. 31.
After several days of marked dejection the share market became friendlier in tone, and Thursday investors showing more disposition to venture. This was largely due to the fact that so long as the international negotiations continue, hope for a solution of the Abyssinian conflict may be found, strengthens. Besides this block market holders were undoubtedly buying. Turnover in Fixed Interest Securities was considerable. Industrial Bonds and City Loans being noticeably firm. Call money rose 3 1/8 to 3 3/8. Young Loan was unquoted. Reichs Banks rose 1 7/8 to 173 7/8. Dye Trusts improved 1/2 to 149 7/8. Salzedorth Potash were 179 (Wednesday unquoted) German Steel Trusts were 1/2 firmer to 81. German Mineral Oils declined 3/8 to 104. Siemenshalske jumped 1 3/4 to 185 3/4. Bemberg Rayon rose 1/4 to 105 3/4.

BRIGHTER STOCK MARKETS

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 10.
There was a general rise in securities on the Stock Exchange yesterday, and there was rather more activity, the ordinary investor making his reappearance as a buyer. There was an all-round rise in gilt-edged stocks, but the most active and buoyant markets were those for armament shares and the shares of companies producing base metals. The pound sterling, which has lately been showing a weakening tendency in terms of American dollars and other gold currencies, was firmer yesterday.
On the other hand, commodity markets showed some irregularity. Wheat, maize, sugar, and cotton were easier, but lute and wool were firmer. There was again considerable activity on the metal exchange, and tin 24 10s. a ton and lead 8s. 9d. a ton. Copper, in which a large business was done, was unchanged on balance.

Now is the time to visit Australia & New Zealand.

lands of Sunshine and Romance. "Down Under" you will feel a new being and even if you are not inclined towards Surfing, Fishing, Shooting or Mountaineering you will find that the Antipodes have plenty to offer you—including 25° for your pound.

On the way down your life aboard will be as you wish, quiet or hectic for the E. & A. will honour your every whim.

And by the way, there is no additional charge for Deck Cabins and there is of course a Sun Deck Swimming pool, an Orchestra and a fine laundry.

A Surgeon and Stewardess are at your disposal and last but not least—we had almost forgotten—the cuisine will set you listening eagerly for the Gongs.
